LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Whytock Parkland real community success story

Dear Editor:

The Whytock Parkland The Whytock Parkining project has been a real challenge showing what can be accomplished in a small community. It is simply an example of what Canada was, built on in the first place. The built on in the first place. The project objective being at all times, to build quality at a modest cost without debt overloads.

I, personally, never considered, at any time, not being ered, at any time, not being able to complete the project even when help seemed unavailable at times as many had other commitments.

We, as a committee, will always be grateful for the enthusiasm, the dedication of entinsiasm, the dedication of many in our community for their expertise and commit-ment towards the project, and especially the seniors, who tirelessly gave much for the final stages of our development development.

The contractors, the trades-men and the heavy equipment operators who, with their donations, were a key element to all construction stages as we tried to meet our critical path development schedules.
I would also like to thank the village council members and their appointed committees, their appointed committees, the co-operation from the members of the Moira River Conservation Authority, the village maintenance crew, the fundraisers, the individuals and organizations who gener-ously gave financial assistance and everyone I personally contacted for help to make this project a reality.

The only two games we lost were by one goal. When you consider that we were playing against some of the top teams in the province, we have to be pleased that we were so close."

It was the Kirk Fleming show in the Flames first two starts of the tournament Wednesday. He scored two key Wednesday. He scored two key goals and goalie Kevin. The Panthers may have underestimated the Flames, however, just as a lot of rivals have this season. The first of Fleming's two goals lifted Campbellford into a 3-1 lead after one period. Victoria Park's Derek Lafreniere cut the margin just 46 seconds after the start of the second period.

Trio for Fleming

Fleming was back with a sterling three-goal perfor-mance to lead CDHS to an easy Dragons of Pembroke later that day. It left the Flames with an unbeaten 2-0 record to take into what they knew would be their most crucial test against Dunbarton Thurs-day morning.

Campbellford may have deserved better fate in that one as the Spartans claimed a 5-4 victory on two goals each by Chris Mitchell and Graham Johnston and a single by Darryl Chilcott. Kirk Fleming contributed his sixth goal three games for the Flames while Rob Foster, Curtis Ducie and Dervk Robertson also and Deryk Robertson also connected. Conte said that the opportunity to compete at the OFSAA level was a great experience for the Flames because it is such a well-organized and enjoyable event to be part of. On Monday, March 9 the Junior Kindergarten class from Madoc Public School visited the dairy farm of Gary and Sherri Robinson. The children enjoyed trying to milk a cow. Afterwards they watched the milkers do it quickly, and they were given the opportunity feed the milk to the calves. Petting the calves and having the calves suck their fingers was a highlight of the visit. It was a worthwhile morning for all.

Huntingdon garbage bin problem still a nuisance

Huntingdon Township resisdents on Moira Lake are angered by the continued misuse of garbage bins put in place only, for their use.

A delegation attended a regular council meeting last Wednesday to voice their concern over people from outside the township dumping their garbage in and around the outside garbage bins meant for residents garbage. The delegation provided photos depicting the dumping problem and letters to council requesting something be done

Several options were discussed Daue Schulz a member of the delegation suggested the bins moved to a suggested the bins moved to a more open area. He felt people would be less likely to "take liberities" when they could be seen doing it.

Council asked if it would be better to remove the bins altog-ther, and have residents take their garbage directly to the dump. Schulz said that wasn't the answer, he felt it would be unfair to the cottagers in the summer. It was also suggested the bins stay in place just seasonally. The delegation disagreed with this idea as well.

Councillor Ken Yarrow said the bins have always caused problems. in their previous location people use to gut their fish and put the remains in and around the bins.

Reeve Owen Ketcheson said the problem would be looked at more closely during council's spring road tour that will take place sometime in April.

NFW & USED APPLIANCE SALE RUNNING TILL THANKSGIVING WEEKEND

Over the winter months we have been re-conditioning appliances. We have in stock 80 used retrigerators with new compressors installed. The compressor motor is the most important & expensive part on a refrigerator. We buy compressor motors 100 at a time directly from the manufacturer. This way we can rebuild refrigerators cheaper than our competition. We have just purchased 500 used fridges & stoves from a company in Toronto that we have been buying from the last 10 yrs. A lot of these refrigerators are apartment size & 2 door frost-free fridges with matching stoves. We also have 60 matching almond fridge & stove sets, ranging from 2 months old & up. We also have 100 freezers of all sizes & a big selection of washers & dryers, lawn mowers and air conditioners.

Smitty likes competition - it keeps one on their toes & prices in line. Smitty says check our competitors out & then come to. Smitty's & browse thru our warehouses & see what we have to offer. You are not obligated to buy, just come & see for vourself our very clean & modern appliances. We take trade-ins. We have our own financing with no interest & same day delivery. If you are thinking of buying or selling your appliances, see Smitty just for an honest price.

WE JUST DON'T SELL APPLIANCES WE GUARANTEE THEM AFTER THE SALE. THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

Anniversary celebrated Years ago most churches sponsored pie socials, box socials, and lawn socials. Gradually, they ceased to socials, box socials, and lawn socials. Gradually, they ceased to be. In 1974, at Bethel Church's 100th anniversay, they had a pie social. Each year since then, the first-Friday evening in April has been set aside for this annual event. In 1977, the adults put on a play and until 1985, at each social they presented a drama, a play or a skit. In 1985, the young people of the church became the performers and each April'since then they have taken part in play. This year's performers are not new to the stage with the exception of Deanna Cooney, 10 year old daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Rodney Cooney. This is her debut. The play this year is entitled "Sure As You're born"; is a comedy and will be presented on April'3 at 8 p.m. Bethel Church is located three miles north of Stirlina. This wear's performers are Rodney Cooney. Ruan Reid. Stirling. This year's performers are Rodney Cooney, Ryan Reid, Jeff Akins, Deanna Cooney, Dawn Cooney and Kim Reid.

Carney said that with the resources they had, "we have done the best we can." He said the township was placed in a "funny situation," with the OMB hearing of appeals taking possibly up to a year to be reviewed.
Paul Walsh, also of the Hastings County Planning Department, agrees with the coworker and council's action. He claims the bylaw is in effect and says the Community Press and says the Community Press was allowed a building permit through the exceptions written into the bylaw 1360-91.

Ms.Dragone of the OMB said it was expected that council enforce their bylaws properly, but the ultimate responsibilities and decisions are up to the ratepayers. She agrees there is confusion, but says the planning act is not too clear.

"Once appealed, the whole bylaw is frozen," she said.
"They (council) can't implement any of it," she stated in a telephone interview. "The council shouldn't be issuing permits since we have not given an approval."

Dragone suggests if any person would like to voice their concerns on any part of bylating 1360-91 they should write to the Ontario Municipal Board at 180 Dundas Street W., Toronto, Ont., M5G 1E5.

After a welcome time out for March break, CHSS students back at it just in time for mid-term exams and reports Exams take place March 31 and April 1. Then mid-term reports will sent home April 9th. These marks are especially important for university bound students who must send in those marks to qualify for the schools of their choice. However, the mid-terms are always a good indicator of how hard a student must work in the final grind of the school

Of course, we have more than just academics on the brain this week. CHIC's Off The Wall competition wraps up this week. This highly successful homeroom event challenges participants to stick their smallest homeroom member to the gym wall with duct tape for as long as possi-ble. Seeing helpless kids attached in mid-air to a wall is a spectacle worth reporting! So the time to beat is one minute, fifty-five seconds.

Vandals possibly looking for municipal tax money broke into the Huntingdon Township Hall early last Saturday morning.

The thieves entered through the north doors of the hall, and broke several doors once inside, including the door from the hall to the council cham-bers, the door from the council chambers to the main office, the door to the vault and the door from the main office to the hall, according to Reeve Owen Ketcheson.

The break-in occurred between 3 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Saturday, April 4. The thieves

Right now, advocacy services are few and far services are few and far between. Community-based advocacy programs, such as the Advocacy Centre for the Elderly and the Advocacy Resource Centre for the Hand-Resource Centre for the Handicapped, provide legal services. Volunteer groups, such as Concerned Friends of Patients in Long-Term Care and other patients rights groups, provide non-legal advocacy.

Examples of advocacy

Experience shows that vulnerable adults know what they need, and that they'll be heard more clearly with the help of an advocate.

I would like to share with you some examples of the types of situations advocates have encountered:

The staff in the long-term care institution thought she was complaining unnecessarily and removed her wheelchair-apparently because she often fell. The mother was hard of hearing and did not speak English, so an advocate brought in an interpreter for her. She could now tell the staff that she wanted her daughter to have the information. The record showed the woman had information been given higher and higher doses of valium for no clear reason, and she decided to have her medication stopped. With the help of an advocate, who explained the situation and her options, this woman made choices about her own treatment.

* A young man applied for a disability pension on his doctor's recommendation. He doctor's recommendation. He received notice of a review hearing, but he couldn't understand the notice because of his disability. He didn't show up for the meeting, and as a result, he was denied the pension. # Construction of recycling plant could start in fall of 1993.

County engineer Jon Tondeur said county council will be asked to approve the plant next month. The site selection was recently decided with the new Haldimand Township industrial park being chosen over two Cobourg locations. one in Port Hope, another Haldimand site and one in Cramahe Township.

The 60,000-square-foot plant would separate recyclable materials from garbage and reduce the amount of waste going into landfills.

Haldimand has offered 16.5 acres for approximately $81,000 but the property will require about $300,000 in engineering and road improvements. Although the original estimate was approximately $11 million, Tondeur said the project plans to use staff labor and the design will be done in-house to save money.

Additionally, the county would save $500,000 because the Ministry of the Environment says it will waive an environmental assessment hearing for the site.

New European predator

Eight of Ontario's southcentral inland lakes have been invaded by a new European predator-the spiny water flea. or Bythotrephes cederstroemi-according to results of two reports released by the Ministry of the Environment.

The studies, conducted by the Ministries of the Environment and Natural Resources. document the first evidence of the spiny water flea in Lakes Muskoka, Rosseau, Joseph, Mary, Fairy, Peninsula, Vernon and Go Home

Scientists are mainly concerned about this new invader's impact on the zooplankton on which it feeds. Zooplankton is the microscopic life near the bottom of the food web. Experts predict that a reduction of plankton could affect the balance of the ecosystem and may affect the survival of organisms and certain small fish which feed on it.

The spiny water flea is a relatively large (10-15mm including its tail spine), shrimp-like animal with a tail three times the size of its body. It feeds on zooplankton smaller than itself, but is easy prey for larger fish.

larger fish.

The spiny water flea invaded each of the Great Lakes during the mid 1980s, most likely through ballast water exchange. It is not known how the crustagean got into the exchange. It is not known now the crustacean got into the inland lakes of Ontario, but scientists believe it was probably brought in by a boat or angler from Georgian Bay. This is the first time the European predator has been found in any inland lakes in North

"To minimize the spread of the spiny water flea, water should not be moved from the eight inland lakes it currently inhabits into any other lakes, not even in bait buckets. We do not know what the ultimate effect of the invader will be,

If the proposed $6 million

If the proposed $6 million recycling plant gets the approval of Northumberland County council, construction could get under way sometime this fall and could be in operation by the summer of 1993.

County engineer Jon Tondeur said-county council will be asked to approve the plant next month. The site selection was recently decided with the new Haldimand Township industrial park being chosen over two Cobourg locations, one in Port Hope, another Haldimand site and one in Cramahe Township.

The 60,000-square-foot plant would separate recyclable materials from garbage and reduce the amount of waste going into landfills.

Not the tourist side

We saw and experienced that art of Mexico tourist rochures don't tell you about. Ve learned how valuable water is when you have to walk a long distance to a tap that is only turned on at certain times of the day; or to a well and then carry two five gal. pails over a rocky street which, until I saw

This hard-earned water is not free of bacteria. One in four Mexican and Central American children die of dehydration caused by diarrhea.

I remember 30 years ago our daughter of 11 months showed signs of dehydration; the doctors decided she should be hospitalized and given antibioand; of course, she recovered in a few days.

We have become accustomed to having social nets as tomed to having social nets as a way of life. But in two-thirds of the world, children die because their governments are often corrupt puppet regimes. In Mexico and Central America, neighbours of the USA, have suffered under aggressive, protectionist, monetarist and neo-liberal (I have just learned those terms) policies of the U.S. government. They, in concert with the Mexican government, have imposed a strategy that follows the dictates of the International Monetary Fund and serves transnational and serves transnational corporations at the expense of corporations at the expense of Mexico's own development.

The Mexican government has implemented a series of economic, legal and labour policies that run the same direction as the strategy of the U.S. government.

It became clear to me that the Free Trade Agreement our government signed with the U.S. impedes Canada's right to U.S. impedes Canada's right to national development and sovereignty just as it will in Mexico. In the month that we have been home, there doesn't seem to be a day goes by that this strategy doesn't cut into the social nets of our country. We hear how health care funding is being cut back and our hospitals are already suffering. Farmers are seeing import quotas for milk, eggs and poultry (supply management programs) threatened. Fishers have lost the right to process their salmon and process their salmon and

We hear of cutbacks in manufacturing and roll-back wage programs. There are thousands of jobs that have been lost in the food and service sectors.

Although Mexico has not yet signed an agreement, the Mexican people have been subjected to this same strategy since the 1960s. It has been a cess of 'silent' integration of the Mexican economy into the Mexican economy and it is accelerated in recent years, when Mexico joined the General Agreement on Farrifs and

The present Mexican government has weakened its foreign investment law and its Mexican financial institutions through measures passed by executive decree. Up until October 1990, Mexico had suffered capital flight amounting to more than $50 billion (U.S.).

You are no doubt thinking, how a government could do that to their own country?

The wealthy ten per cent of the population are becoming wealthier. Kick-backs are not

The opposition parties are financed by the government in power. Most of the unions in the large plants are hand-in-hand with the owners and when workers ask questions, or become troublesome, they are let go. There are always desperate people who do not have any kind of guaranteed income to take their place.

Desperate situations

Our direct encounters with Our direct encounters with the poor shook us but helped us understand the desperate situ-ation. It also called us to examine all that we take for granted.

We were asked by one lady "what we would do if we were in her situation?"

She had welcomed us into her one-room house where she her one-room house where she and her children and grand-children lived (a total of 16 people). She and her daughters did embroidery work on runners and doilies; she also acquired baskets, roses and chicklets to sell on the streets. She could not afford a licence for the market so, was at the

So perhaps you are wonder-ing where is the hope? I believe it is with the Base Eccelsial Community movement.

We had the privilege of taking part in one of their weekly meetings. In the Cuer-navaca area there are about 500 communities and small groups of Christians who meet in private homes. They began in Latin America after Pope John Paul's encyclical from Vatican II in 1962 when Lay People were encouraged to read the Bible.

The format is simple: an The format is simple: an opening song, then the reading of scripture passages from the lectionary for the coming Sunday's Mass. Each one is read twice so those who can't read remember them. After each passage they shared their understanding of what the passage meant to their "hereand-now reality."

As visitors, the meeting was a living testament of the faith of the poor. They're spiritually grounded in the conviction that God is present and active in their daily struggles. Their biblical vision is clear: They believe that just as God liberated the peoples of Israel from the oppression of Egypt, God is liberating the poor and the marginalized today.

Witnessing the poor helping the poor touched and chal-lenged us. Do we, who have so much, see the poor and needy in our communities?

To help you fill out your income tax return

Extended hours

From February 24 to April 30, we offer an "after hours" phone service from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday.

You can also call T.I.P.S. Info-Tax, our automated phone service, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, for recorded information on selected topics.

No-calculation returns

To make things easier, we've designed two simpler tax returns that don't have any calculations.

These optional returns are great for people with straightforward tax situations. If you're under 65, you can use the "Short."
If you're 65 or over, the "65 Plus" is for you. Whatever return you use, you should fill out only one.

Make sure your return is not delayed

Lots of people fill out their tax return with great care, only to miss details that can make all the difference. For example, if your address is incomplete or incorrect, your refund could be delayed or sent to the wrong place.

If you will be moving, write the new address on your return, or if you don't know it yet, please call us to let us know as soon as you can so we can update your file.

Another important detail is attaching all the slips and receipts that support your claims for credits and deductions. If any are missing, your return may get held up while we contact you for the information

We're making it easier.

Over the winter months we have been re-conditioning appliances. We have in stock 80 used refrigerators with new compressors installed. The compressor motor is the most important & expensive part on a refrigerator. We buy compressor motors 100 at a time directly from the manufacturer. This way we can rebuild refrigerators cheaper than our competition. We have just purchased 500 used fridges & stoves from a company in Toronto that we have been buying from the last 10 yrs. A lot of these refrigerators are apartment size & 2 door frost-free fridges with matching stoves. We also have 60 matching almond fridge & stove sets, ranging from 2 months old & up. We also have 100 freezers of all sizes & a big selection of washers & dryers, lawn mowers and air conditioners.

Smitty likes competition - it keeps one on their toes & prices in line. Smitty says check our competitors out & then come to Smitty's & browse thru our warehouses & see what we have to offer. You are not obligated to buy, just come & see for yourself our very clean & modern appliances. We take trade-ins, We have our own financing with no interest & same day delivery. If you are thinking of buying or selling your appliances, see Smitty just for an honest price.

WE JUST DON'T SELL APPLIANCES, WE GUARANTEE THEM AFTER THE SALE. THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

Mr. Buchanan says "there may be some budget increases - for instance in grants for research and deve-lopment – because that's one way to expand our business and industrial base and build a stronger economy.

Hastings students perform to provincial standards in math review

The Ministry of Education has announced the results of its 1990, provincial review Grades 8, 10 (General), and 12 (Advanced) Mathematics.

The results show that Hast-ings students performed to the overall Provincial standards. All of the students enrolled in The Hastings County Board of Education's Grade 8, 10 (General), or 12 (Advanced) math program took part in the

In 1990, Hastings results for Grade 12 (Advanced) are above the provincial average, for Grade 10 (General) are at for Grade 10 (General) are at-the provincial average, and for Grade 8 (which also includes Special Education students) are marginally below average. In comparison to testing that was conducted in 1975, the 1990 was conducted in 1973, the 1990 Grade 8 results for Hastings are significantly better in all core areas such as addition, subtraction, multiplication, and percent. Such previous data is not available for Grade 10. 10 (General) and Grade 12 (Advanced).

It is the practice of The Hastings County Board of Education to participate in alf Ministry reviews. Therefore, even though only a few Hast-ings schools were selected as part of the Ministry's sampling of 100 schools across the province, all the Board's schools with Grade 8, 10 (General) Mathematics programs participated.

The results of 1990 math review are being analyzed by school staff and are being used by teachers, administrators and support personnel to assess and adjust current teaching strategies, curricu-lum and resources.

Provincial reviews conducted periodically by the Ministry of Education to report on the quality of programs and courses in schools across the province. The Hastings County Board of Education compares the results of the provincial reviews to those gathered through its own assessment and review process.

Soccer league to begin in Madoc

This summer Madoc can enjoy soccer as another summer pastime.

The new soccer league is sponsored by the Madoc Recreation Committee and is open to girls and boys ages 9-12.

The season will run from June to August with games to be played at Madoc Public School and Centre Hastings Secondary School.

For the inaugural season there will be no registration fee for the players.

Organizer Rob Horwood said Madoc Public School along with Madoc Township School were polled to see how many youngsters would be interested in playing soccer. Horwood said 135 boys and girls said they would like to play on a

Waste reduction and you

pate in some of them. I won't get into listing the various events, but would like to write a little bit about what Earth Day is about, and what we can do to make it a meaningful

For me, Earth Day is a time to think about the world we live to think about the world we live in, and to find some way to show our respect for it. For too many decades, garbage was something we didn't have to think about, other than remembering to put it out once a week. It disappeared – it wasn't our problem. Now we are realizing that it doesn't disappear, and that it does affect this earth we live on. Our throw-away society is yery. Our throw-away society is very wasteful of natural resources, and shows little respect for mother earth.

So what should you do, your ask? Stop consuming and go back to living in a cave? Well, no that is getting a little dras-tic, and besides, we would probably run short of caves. All that is required is for you to All that is required is for you to think a little bit about your lifestyle, get informed about environmentally friendly alternative products and actions, and then slowly build more and more of these alter-natives into your life. Most of them will be quite painless once you've adopted them for a couple of weeks, and in most cases they will save you money at the same time as you do your part for the environment.

First of all, many of the actions that you can take to be more environmentally responsible take very little extra time. Some of them actually save you time. Keep your ears and eyes open for interesting environmentally friendly tips, like those at the bottom of this articles, and try out those that don't take much extra time.

Secondly, why not make a conscious effort to set some time aside for this. After all, the future of the planet should be able to squeeze in some-where with all of the other priorities that fill our lives. Believe me, you'll feel better for doing it.

for doing it.

The average househould in the Madoc-Marmora-Stirling area produces more than one tonne of garbage and 80 per cent of that material is recyclable or compostable. Much of the rest could be avoided by buying more environmentally responsible products. sible products.

combine waste reduction efforts with energy and water conservation measures, tree planting programs, and other environmentally friendly actions and I'd say you can make a big difference. You don't have to become some sort of overnight environmen-tal saint, you just have to look at the big picture. For exam-ple, why, you buy a product, consider what went into the product and where it is going to end up.

Now that environmentalism

Now that environmentalism is becoming less of a radical fringe group and more of a generally accepted way of approaching life, making changes to your lifestyle has become easier. Now instead of the fear of being considered strange for bringing your own reusable grocery bags to a store, you will find more people showing appreciation of your taking the effort to show you care. Maybe soon, people will be made to feel strange for practising a wasteful or non-sustaining lifestyle.

Getting back to Earth Day, don't just think of it as one day a year to make a token action and become a little more aware of environmental problems and solutions. Take the lems and solutions. Take the next step - from awareness into action, and keep the momen-tum going throughout the year. Show people, and the earth, that you care.

Improvements add value and beauty to the home

There are so many home im-provement tasks you want to do around your home, it seems overwhelming. Part of you would just like to buy a new house and avoid all that work, but if you're an average Canadian, that's just not a practical option.

So what do you do? Try tackling one project at a time. Not everything has to be done before mer arrives. If there are a lot of little projects and a few big ones, do the little ones first. You'll feel a sense of accomplishment after each one is completed, and as your list of chores gets smaller, you may actually look forward to the next on the list.

Before attempting any improvement project (big or small) it's important to know what you're Don't just guess or say, "I'll figure it out as I go along."
Although it's an ambitious attitude, it's one that can result in

People end up spending exor-bitant amounts of time and money because they don't have the skills or the know-how to properly do the job they set out to do.

The savvy do-it-yourselfer is the one who knows when to hire a professional to do the job. Sometimes it's the best alternative. You'll save time, aggravation, and possibly a lot of money. Just be sure the person you hire is reputa-ble in his or her field. Word of mouth is one of the best ways to find this out. Ask a few neighbours who recently had work done on their homes. Not only will they advise you on who to hire, but they'll probably tell you who to avoid too.

Safety is probably the most important consideration of home improvement projects. Make sure directions are read, ladders are secure, hands are steady and secure, hands are steady and proper attire is worn. Masks, goggles and gloves hist, especially when dealing with chemicals like stains and varnishes. Breathing in toxins could not only make you dizzy, but could have damaging effects on your liver and kidneys.

If toddlers are around, keep all lids closed and sharp object out of the way. You can't curb a child's curiosity, so it's best not to even spark it.

Your how big or small, so when re-doing or improving, caution and knowledge can help you make your palace fit for a king.

For a beautiful exterior use products in various textures and colours that enhance your home's size and design, such as dimensional roofing shingles, vinyl siding with an authentic-looking wood grain, and windows in traditional and contemporary styles. Bring out your home's "sleeping beauty"

Invest in your kitchen

Financial planners often say that buying a house is one of the biggest investments most people make during their lives. Sure, there are mutual funds, stocks, gold and silver - even pork bellies- but no investment offers the combina-tion of enjoyment and potential for income growth as does a house. After all, you live in your home! While no one would guarantee that the value of your home will appreciate, remodelling projects usually enhance the value. How usually ennance ine value. How much return will-you get on the investment? If you're remodel-ling your kitchen, your invest-ment is likely to pay off in enjoy-ment and in dollars, say experts at Aristokraft, a leading manufac-turer of cabinets for the home.

The National Association of the Remodelling Industry (NARI) supports this position. In 1990, the average investment in a major kitchen remodelling was $20,906 and received a 98 percent return.

Moreover, real estate experts say a new kitchen often causes a home to be sold faster because it shows

In 1991 survey conducted by Qualified Remodeller magazine showed that a median investment construction cost of $11,888 added $3,000 in value to the home plus the enjoyment obtained from using it.

According Vonderheide, a certified kitchen designer at Aristokraft, remodelling adds indirect value on top of ming adds indicat value on top of the increased selling price. "Proper planning is important," says Vonderheide. "Think your kitchen project through from start to finish, because of the large investment in your home. Your home must suit your present needs as well as your lifestyle, and de-sign and function should be foremost in your mind, particularly in the case of a kitchen, which tends to be both a 'service' room for cooking and a family room."

By consulting a certified kitchen designer and using a reputable contractor (checking references is important) you'll be able to obtain the kitchen of your dreams and enhance the resale value of your home.

If you're one of the thousands nadians considering a new roof, new windows or new siding this year, here's a valuable tip for getting more than you bargained for: Take some time to really look at your home's exterior - it's tex-tures, colours and basic design and select projects that provide the protection you need, while offering additional opportunities for waking up your home's exterior beauty.

Think about it: Vinyl windows, while making your home more thermally efficient, also llow you to decorate with light. New vinyl siding will end forever the chore of painting, while offering excit-ing opportunities for enhancing your home with colour and style. And, while protecting your home from the elements, the texture and colour of a new roof can bring together your home's exterior fea-

Whether your plans include one specific improvement or a combination of several, it's important to know a few basic rules about exterior home design.

A house is definitely more in-teresting when it combines sev-eral different types of exterior

For example, that brick, stucco or stone be combined with vinyl siding in a complementary colour. This adds visual interest to the exterior and helps define the home's personality.

That's not to say that a home must incorporate brick, stone, stucco or other such materials in order to achieve an attractive text.

order to achieve an attractive textural look.

Some of the major vinyl siding manufacturers now offer trim and accessory items, like corner sys-tems and decorative mouldings, that can be combined for a beautifully textured - and totally maintenance-free - exterior

Choosing the right shingle de-sign for your roof is another important component in an attrac-tive exterior design. Laminated asphalt shingles, also called de-signer or architectural shingles, designed with overlay tabs. This design can add dimensional appeal to a roof, with a look simito that of wood shakes or slate.

These designer shingles are available in many price ranges, so ple, every budget can be met. If your remodelling project involves only roofing at this point, a designer shingle roof could greatly enhance your home's overall aesthetics.

Another way to enhance a home's exterior is through replacement windows. Best of all, today's trend toward decorative windows - and the multitude of shapes and styles now available in vinyl - makes it possible to enhance both the outside and inside aesthetics of your home simultaneously.

While adding interest to your home's overall exterior, windows allow you to use light as a decora-tive element. For example, instead of simply replacing your windows with the same style, install a bay, bow or picture window. Add a circle top to an ordinary window, or turn a wall into a window wall. For true design flexibility, your best bet is thermally efficient custom-made windows. Like texture, colour can have a dramatic impact on your home's exterior look.

Consider the two largest exterior elements, roofing and siding, together - and keep a few basic colour rules in mind. For example, light colours can help make a home look larger, while darker colours tend to make a home appear smaller.

HOME IMPROVE

Proper care prolongs screen life, adds to summer comfort

every window and glass door in the home and, when spring comes, they take a lot of abuse, including constant exposure to the elements. With proper care, though, most screens can give years of "bugfree" service.

Sereens of today's most popular materials - fibre glass and aluminum - are easy to maintain and last far longer than the old galvanized-steel type.

The old screening is easy to recognize, since galvanized steel often rusts and discolours. You may want to consider replacing may want to consider replacing such screening this spring. Not only will it help improve the ap-pearance of your home, but-since fibre glass and aluminum resist rust and corrosion-you may never have screen problems again.

Regardless of the type off screening you have, proper care starts with an inspection

The best time to do this is when you give your windows a good washing. For most homeowners, this is usually twice a year; once in the spring and again in the fall, when screens are put up or taken down for the season.

When checking your screens, make sure the retaining spline (the rubbery strip that anchors screening to a frame) is tightly in place. If it isn't, you can easily put it back into the spline channel by using a concave hand roller tool.

If the spline is worn or damaged, or has become brittle, you can buy a replacement spline and a hand roller at local hardware stores, home centres or building supply dealers.

Also check for holes and tears. Large gaps usually cannot be repaired, but you might want to patch smaller holes.

For very small holes - one-quarter inch or so - a light touchup with glue may do the job for one season. Epoxy is best for aluminum screening, while clear household cement is best for fibre

For larger holes, iron-patches are available for fibre glass screens. A method suitable for all screens is to cut a patch from a piece of metal screening about one or two inches larger on all sides than the area to be covered. Then, bend the loose strands of

It only costs a few dollars if you do the job yourself. And, not only will your screens look better, but you won't have the worry of a makeshift repair turning into a bigger tear. Fibre glass and aluminum replacement screening - like replacement spline - is available at most local retailers.

These retailers also should be able to provide installation instructions and any tools you may need.
The only special tool is the spline roller, but you will also need a screwdriver and utility knife or tin snips.

Be sure to measure the exact screen size you need to replace, since screen cloth comes in several widths. It also is available in different colours and mesh sizes so you may want to take a small sample to make sure the new sample to make sure the new screens match the old ones.

If the screen frames are damaged, many dealers offer complete screens in standard sizes. Or, you can call a local screen shop. Look in the telephone book under "Screens - Door/Window" to find a dealer.

Whether it is old or new, it is a good idea to keep all your screening clean. Fibre glass screens tend to have some static electricity (or "cling"), which can attract lint and dirt. The dirt is easily removed by vacuuming the screens periodically from the inside.

For your once-or-twice-a-year cleaning, you will want to remove the screens and clean them with a mild detergent. Just brush on a mixture of water and detergent and then hose it off.

Take care not to poke holes in the screen while cleaning, and prop the screens up so they do not get dirty on the ground. With this minimum of maintênance, window an door screens will last for many seasons. And the fresh air they help bring in is good for your health and - in air conditioning climates - your pock-

Highlighting your home's entryway

Among the most popular home improvement projects are those that can dramatically improve the looks of your home. In fact, "curb appeal" has become an important factor in the looks, live-ability and sale-ability of a home.

In fact, some storm doors offer design elements that further en-hance the entry area. In addition to full-view glass, other features include antique brass knob hard-

If you're thinking about a front door facelift, you should consider function as well as good looks.

With storm doors, look for solid core construction, typically an aluminum skin bonded to a wood core. These doors give a solid feel of quality and seal tight and flat against the frame. And, solid core doors won't warp the way wood storm doors do, and are much less likely to dent or bend than hollow aluminum models.

Busy meeting wraps up minor hockey season

By Sean Clair

The Campbellfor Minor Hockey Association has pulled shut the curtains on another eventful season.

It officially ended Friday night with the annual meeting held in the arena lounge. The program consisted of a social hour, dinner courtesy of the Ladies' Auxiliary followed by business and the election of Mayor Cathy Redden was in attendance in addition to five former presidents of minor hockey. It was the first annual meeting in over 20 years that Art Larcombe, another past president, missed. Poor health prevented him from attending but he sent his regards.

The business segment began with an introduction of all those involved in the organization of minor hockey. Past-president Joe Barton turned over the floor to president Ted Nicholas, who acknowledged the work of the parents, volunteers, ladies auxiliary, the executive and coaching staffs, all of whom contributed to the successful season.

Nicholas lauded the successes of various teams and the success of the goaltending clinic which is expected to be expanded next season. Nicholas also touched on the disaplas also touched on the disap-pointment of failing to ice juvenile and midget teams. Ways of encouraging no-shows to sign up locally were talked about and releases to other centres proved to a hotly-contested topic.

Reference was made to some of this year's successes, including the bingo which helps keep registration costs low, the value of the trade fair low, the value of the trade fair booth and the contributions of the sponsors. They include Graham's Florist, Sharpe's Valley Foods, Bertrand Motors. Campbellford Chrys-ler, Bennett's Home Furnish-ings, IGA, Kinsmen, Legion and the OPSEU. Other keys to financial stability have been the sale of Christmas trees and Nevada tickets sold through the York Convenience Store.

Nicholas revealed that 147 registered players were on the ice this season at a cost of $100 each, certainly lower than neighboring centres. The asso-ciation had operating costs of more than $64,000 and finished up better than $200 in the plus column.

Elaine White reported on the women's auxiliary finances and the year-end rundown which included the serving of which included the serving or more than 1,100 tournament meals. She noted that the volunteer efforts were excel-lent. The hard-working ladies also operated a contest for a local team name with "Colts" coming up the winner. Two cate of sweaters were Two sets of sweaters were purchased for the peewee and atom teams with plans to outfit the bantam and novice squads next year. Elections proved to be a close battle with Larry Metcal-fe and Doug White the eventual winners in the run-off. Both will join the executive in direc-

A motion from the floor broached the idea of seeking a lowering of status from a "C" to a "CC" centre. The motion will be passed on to the OMHA district convenor. district convenor

Secretary/treasurer Tony White reflected on what was White reflected on what was described as a rewarding year.
He pointed out plans for purchasing new goaltending equipment, which is sorely needed, from revenues of various fund-raisers.

Organizer asks for more public response for motor home rally

"More public involvement," is the rallying cry of Orville McFarland of the Gypsy Roamers' mobile home club as roamers mobile nome club as plans continue for the Triple E Adventure Club Rally sche-duled here Aug. 28th-30th. "This is quite a mammoth undertaking and it's certainly a big economic boost for Campbellford to have a large Campbellford to have a large contingent of motor home people here for a fun weekend." pointed out McFarland. "There's definitely been a lack of interest and response so far. We'd like to see 100 people or so out to our next meeting. We could use more volunteers and anone who volunteers and anyone who wishes to get involved are cordially invited to get out to a meeting or contact me at 653-1501."

of the Salvation Army's Camp-bellford Corps.

That's the thought Capt.
Roode has left residents to ponder this week as we get set to celebrate Easter Sunday this coming weekend.

"To many people, Easter means beautiful flowers and means beautiful flowers and tasty chocolate bunnies and eggs. But Easter is all of this and more. Easter is a celebra-tion of The Resurrection of Jesus Christ," he says.

Fun fair time: Norwood District Public School held its annual fun fair Friday evening with staff and members of the Community School Association providing a host of entertain-ing events and displays --everything from popular face-painting to fortune telling and golf putting. In the top photo, the Graham sisters, fresh from the Granam sisters, fresh from having their faces painted, watch on as their mother Dianne (not in the photo) adds a flourish with her face-painting brush. On the left, a young fun fair enthusiast tries her luck with a baseball. Watch next week for more pictures

The family of Francis Cook are so completely overwhelmed by the many, many friends who have expressed their sympathy and love in such a variety of ways, that words of thanks will never be enough. For the beautiful floral arrangements sent to the hospital, funeral home and our homes, the Mass cards and Gideon scriptures, the charitable donations and contributions, the food and the large number of sympathy cards - all in memory of such a kind and loving man, our grateful thanks.

To Father Grainger for his comforting homily, Fathers Chisolm and Hickson for participating in the Mass, the C.W.L. for their bounteous lunch, the McConnell Funeral Home, the Marmora Novice Team and so many others - our heartfelt gratitude.

The field trial group hopes to return next spring and have even talked about a "championship" trial which promises to be bigger and better. All involved raved about the grounds and the birds.

"Our first venture in the Norwood area proved to be as successful as we expected and hopefully next year more land will be available, more participants and we can make the spring trial in Norwood an annual event," Mr. Partington

Color creates fresh new looks for kitchens

Add it to your list of casualties of the 1980's. Along with conspicuous consumption, designer-labelled everything, yuppies on the fast track, and baby vegetables, out goes the all-white kitchen. Seek Eurostyle cabinetry made white kitchens the fashionable.

white kitchens the fashionable choice for the decade of excess. Appliance manufacturers fol-lowed suit, and soon the entire kitchen was awash in a snowy pallor.

White was everywhere in these write was very write in these streamlined kitchen settings, even accessories: white pitchers, res-taurant china, white porcelain-handled flatware. But what a white palette provided in ease of design and livability it lost in its stark-

For a while, the kitchen was the space nobody went into. Today's open kitchen, providing visual access to other areas in the home, such as the dining and family rooms, is an important in-fluence on colour. Colours have to flow between these spaces to make the kitchen look like a part of the total home.

Today the kitchen is as much of a candidate as other rooms in the home to use colour. People are much less afraid to use colour, and that's a good thing.

White remains a favourite for the permanent kitchen fixtures and major appliances because they are chameleon-like pliances don't dictate the entire colour scheme of the kitchen. They allow home decorators to create their own colour statements.

When thinking colour, start from the surface, designers advise: colourful floors, laminates, window treatments and wallcoverings. Other ways con-sumers are introducing colour, are sumers are introducing cotour, are via inexpensive, movable objects, such as cutting blocks, cookware and stoneware, accent tiles, wall hangings, accessories, and even food and flower arrangements.

Flooring, the kitchen's largest surface treatment, is a particu-larly important element in the colour accent equation and actu-ally one of the simplest to change. Fresh colour on the floor can make a major design impact on the room.

ew solid-coloured vinyl floor tiles; add to the possibilities of how and where to cast colour in a white kitchen. By combining two or more tile colours, it's possible to design an endless variety of custom floor treatments.

The floor is one of the few places you can use pattern in the kitchen. In other rooms, you can have pattern on fabrics and draperies and a sofa. There's very little wall space in the kitchen, place for pattern. So, we use it on the floor

The nuts and bolts

As the first crocus pokes through the ground this spring, homeowners should remember to start "poking" bolts through nuts, as they tackle spring maintenance chores and new construction projects. Whether it's tightening the lugs on their children's swings sets and bicycles; assembling a storage shed or building their "dream" deck; having the proper wrenches and drive sockets - and knowing when to use them - will make the jobs easier and add to the likelihood of success. When tightening the nuts on a

of spring projects

bicycle, the experts recommend using both flat wrenches and sock-ets to prevent stripped muts. In building a deck, a do-it-yourselfer will find that some fasteners will be recessed, or there will be a bolt that extends far beyond the nut. To get at these hard to reach nuts, a deep socket will be needed.

It is important to know the difference between regular chrome plated sockets that are used with hand-held ratchets, and impact sockets that are used with power

Fire safety tips for apartment dwellers

Fire safety should be as much a part of high-rise apartment living as a panoramic view, elevators and doormen. Here are some lifesaving tips from the Insurance Information Institute that every apartment dweller should know:

*If a fire occurs, do not panic. Staying calm will increase chances rvival.

*Remember that smoke rises. It also kills. Even if you can tolerate smoke while standing, it is safer to crawl to the door.

*Do not open the door until you are sure there's no fire on the other side. Feel the door knob. If it is hot, the fire may be just out-

*Brace your shoulder or foot against the door and open with extreme caution. Should you be confronted with a high concentration of super-heated air or smoke,

*If the hall is passable, use one of your pre-designated escape

*Do not waste time gathering personal belongings, but shut the door and take your key.
*Do not use the elevator. It may stall due to heat or loss of power.

*If you must use the inside stairwell, check for smoke before entering.
*If the stairwell is safe to enter

Big impressions from small lawns

If you have a small yard, you know you don't have to spend a lot of time maintaining it. However, chances are you're more devoted to detailing every inch of that property than those with much larger spreads. It's not the total effort that counts - its the effort per square foot.

One thing's for sure, some of the most beautiful properties you will ever see are a quarter acre or less in size. Some things never change, though. The keys to suc-cess for small yards are the same as those for properties as big as golf course; proper mowing, watering and fertilizing.

Here is one chore where small yard owners have it made. With a small lawn you can use almost anything from an old fashioned push mower to a high-tech elec-tric mower that floats on a bed of Small lawns have lots of stons and starts and more than their share of tight corners. Often the best way to cut grass in tight spots is with a hand-held grass shear.

On uneven ground, special care must be taken to avoid cutting the grass too low. Generally, you're better off keeping your grass on the longer side to encourage deeper rooting and thus better drought tolerance.

Additional reminders about mowing: don't cut the grass when it's wet, because the mower tears the grass; leave the clippings on for free mulch and to save on fertilizer; alternate the direction of the cut each week to avoid putting ruts in your lawn from the wheels on the mower.

RENSHAW POWER PRODUCTS R.R. 5 Made

1-1/2 km North of Ivanh 613-473-5160

SMALL YARDS CAN MEAN BIG BEAUTY. That's be owners tend to devote much more effort per squa their lawns.

Many homeowners with small yards enjoy watering their lawns by hand. That's okay as long as you water deeply. Deep watering encourages the grass roots to grow more deeply in search of that water. That gives you a tougher, stronger lawn.

Water early or late in the day to reduce water loss due to evaporation. During the summer, you may not be able to water due to drought restrictions. Don't worry. The high heat and lack of water will signal the grass to automatically go dormant and stop growing. Though it will turn brown, the lawn will revive itself when the weather cools and the rains return in the fall.

During droughts avoid fertiliz-ing your lawn. This stimulates the grass to grow and increases it's need for water Fertilizing

Using a traditional lawn food enreader within the confines of a small yard can be tricky. The extra maneuvering required to navi-gate tight corners can result in uneven application of fertilizer, which results in very noticeable burn spots or unevengrowth.

Liquid fertilizers because they are fast acting, must be applied more frequently than a dry pow-dered fertilizer. That's okay, because experts recommend small requent feedings rather than a large single dose feeding.

The best time to feed grass is during the cooler spring and fall seasons, when the grass is most actively growing. Try to avoid feedings before a heavy rain.

Simple new way to feed your houseplants

With most houseplants going into their active growing and blooming season, now's the time to think about applying a good houseplant fertilizer. Trouble is, spring and summer maybe your most active times, too. Plant food spikes, may be the answer. In-serted into the soil off a potted plant, they release nutrients slowly, as the plants need them.
Food spikes contain nutralen, a slow release nitrogen, which is broken down in the soil by both chemical and natural microbial action. Use a spike to every two inches of pot (three spikes to a sixinch pot.) All of the nutrients are absorbed in about eight weeks, at which point spikes should be reapplied.

The spikes come with a handy plastic probe that makes a neat entry hole for the spike and eliminates breakage. The digging action also aerates the soil, which stimulates root growth for healthier plants.

Garden ponds: Easy to install

If you really enjoy being in your yard and would like to give it that extra dimension to make it even more enjoyable, as well as the envy of the neighbourhood, the envy of the neighbourhood, here's a great suggestion - put in your own yard pond! Too much trouble? Don't know how to do it? Through new technology, all these worries are needless.

Installing your own garden pond is simple, maintaining it is easy and, best of all, your pond will provide years of trouble-free enjoyment.

After digging out your pond location, line the ground with sand, carpet padding or even old newspapers before installing the liner. This will protect the liner against sharp, protruding objects such as roots and rocks

Holstein Association of Canada will present Raebern Robinson of Madoc Township with its highest attainable award of Master Breeder.

The award will be presented at the association's annual meeting in mid-April.

"The enthusiasm shown and interest taken by our boys while growing up has aided a great deal in the success of our breeding," Robinson said. "We have used official milk recording as well as type classifica-tion to aid in our selection of animals for breeding and animals for breeding and culling."

Raebern's father, who was unfortunately, killed in a 1961 farm accident, had a grade herd sired by A.I. bulls. Raebern then farmed with his mother for two years before fully taking over the farm. His acquired interest in following blood lines of popular and valuable animals, and realization of extra potential for sales. tion of extra potential for sales, led him to breed a registered Holstein herd. Today, Raebern, wife Jane and son Mark are partners in the operation where the 44 head average BCA's of milk 184, fat 188 and protein 188.

In 1963, Raebern bought his first registered calf, Arnem Sandy Lou, which developed into foundation of his present herd. Sixty-five of the current 90 head are direct descendants of this Good Plus. Two-Star Brood cow. "Sandy Lou" had five daughters; two were Good Plus, Star Broods sired by Lassie Leader, Flach of these two, Raensons Lassie Lou and Raensons Sandy Lynne have eight generations in the herd tracing to them and thirty almost descendants.

Gardening -A fun and relaxing pastime

Spring is the time to prepareyour garden beds for planting. Good news: you don't need to put in lots of time or expensive chemical additives to grow a beautiful garden. True, flowers and vegetables need nutrients and healthy soil beds to grow vigorously. But, as organic gardeners will tell you, all you need to do is to feed the soil, and the soil will feed the plants. A little attention now will pay off richly in a few weeks' time.

Fertile soils provide pants with the nutrients, water and minerals that they need to grow. What soils need is good quality organic matter to make them fertile. Adding organic matter such as compost to soils indirectly supplies them with nutrients.

Compost provides food for earthworms and naturally-occurring bacteria, fungi, and other beneficial microorganisms in the soil. The earthworms and the microorganisms digest the compost and break it down into nutrients that plant roots can absorb.

Adding compost to soil also improves the soil's structure. That is, it aerates the soil and improves its capacity to hold nutrients and water and make them available as plants need them.

For years, gardeners have used chemical fertilizers to feed plants. These can leach and pollute groundwater. In addition, these bypass the natural cycles of feeding microorganisms and aerating soil and throw the soil out of balance. In fact, chemical fertilizer and pesticides often kill earthworms and microorganisms, and so interfere with the breakdown of organic matter. In time, this causes soil to become less fertile and less able to hold water and nutrients.

Spring is the best time of year to get plants and garden beds off to a healthy start. What should a gardener do?

*Test the soil. Find out whether it has balanced pH and sufficient nutrient and mineral reserves to produce healthy growth. Soil test kits are inexpensive and available at most lawn and garden centres.

*Acrate garden beds. Turning the soil and allowing air into it is vital; oxygen enables microorganisms to digest organic matter and so fuels the natural cycle.

*Add compost or other or ganic matter to garden beds each year. Add soil amendments to soil. Turn over top two to four inches of garden bed with a spade, then rake or spade two to four inches dehydrated or composted manure into soil surface. This enhances or ganic matter content, improves air, water, and nutrient retention, increased drainage, and stimulates microorganism activity.

*Fertilize. A well-fed garden bed should not need additional fertilizing. But if you wish to give plants an extra boost, feed them with all-natural, organic fertiliz-

Natural, organic fertilizers are those which have low numbers (in the single digits) on the label. These come from plant or animal sources; they are naturally low intirogen and occur on forms that are released slowly into the soil, so that they do not blast plants with nitrogen and other nutrients, and do not leach into and pollute groundwater.

WHATEVER KINDS OF TOMATOES YOU GROW, maximize your yield by staking or caging plants to keep fruit off the ground. Fertilize regularly with a high-quality, water soluble tomato food.

Advantages of foliar feeding

Feeding with water-soluble plant foods is the fastest, and often the most efficient way to supply nutrients to a plant. Commercial growers have long used this method-fertilizing plants through nursery irrigationsystems - to keep greenhouse plants lush.

greenhouse plants lush.
For decades, home gardeners have fertilized flowers and plants by applying plant food a the base of the shrub to feed the root system. Yet, foliar feeding with a water-soluble product is an easier way to fertilize - and one which gives quicker results.

Feeding with water-soluble plant foods is a benefit for all plants. In the spring, it's the fastest way to restore lush green foliage to evergreens (azaleas and rhododendrons). It also can help reduce transplant shock for bedding plants ding plants.

Come midsummer, watersolubles can eliminate "jet lag" (that first burst of colour and then a lag) for flowering annuals, perennial and bedding plants. It's also an effective means of fertilizing vegetables and citrus plants also an effective finears of retrilizing vegetables and citrus plants - especially strawberries. Hanging baskets and other container plants need frequent watering because the constant air movement around them dries out the soil. This constant watering also leaches out the nutrients in the soil, turning the foliage yellow.

Container plants need watering nearly every day during summer, so the best way to keep their foliage lush and green is to spray with water-soluble plant food every week or two. Frequent, light feedings are better than one heavy feeding.

feedings are center than the leavy feeding.
Foliar feeding is especially advantageous during dampspring weather when most plants don't need additional water.

Before applying foliar plant food, be sure to read the label instructions carefully. It's best not to apply foliar fertilizer if plants are starving for water - as the leaves may absorb the spray too quickly and become scorched.

Aquariums prove there's no fish like goldfish

The arrival of spring signals that we will soon be enjoying the beauties of nature - blooming flowers and greening shrubs and Another natural beauty that can be enjoyed within the home is ornamental fish. The fascinating movements, bright and distinctive colours and various shapes of ornamental fish are a delight for the whole family. Enclosed porches are ideal locations for goldfish aquariums. Goldfish, unlike tropical fish, do not need a heated aquarium and are a great addition to spring and summer living.

Benefits of goldfish

Goldfish are fun, goldfish are beautiful and, in fact, a study conducted by researchers at the University of Pennsylvania in 1980 concluded that watching ornamental fish in home aquariums was a definite benefit in relieving stress.

So, if you have some extra space and would like something your whole family could enjoy, consider an aquarium with omamental goldfish.

To go about starting a goldfish aquarium, you will first want to locate a good dealer. If you have a friend who has an aquarium, ask for a reference; otherwise the phone book lists most tropical fish

Tropical fish are warm-blooded and require a heated aquarium. Goldfish do fine in an aquarium with a water temperature around 65 degrees F.

When visiting a tropical fish store, get an idea of different sizes of aquariums and the type of equip-ment you will need. A goldfish aquarium should be covered with a reflector using fluorescent lights, which do not throw off a significant amount of heat.

In terms of a stand for your

Even though you don't need a heater, it's a good idea to use a thermometer to make sure the water temperature does not rise

GOLDFISH AQUARIUMS are easy to set up, require aquarium, your dealer will have a selection, but you could also consider building one to match the decor of your room. This is relatively simple, but be sure it's very sturdy since the weight of the aquarium and water is quite heavy. A good idea is to build an open stand out of 2x4s and then cover the front with decorative panelling to match your room decor and leave the back open so that the wiring and tubing from your aquarium's pump and filter can be stored out of sight.

Good filter important

In addition to the reflector, you will also need a good filter since goldfish are rather messy. Your A recent development in ther-mometer technology is the liquid crystal digital thermometer which affixes to the outside of the aquarium, yet measures most ac-curately the water temperature.

If you are going to keep a lot of fish, you will also want a separate air pump in addition to the filter to add more oxygen to the water.

Decorating your goldfish aquarium can be great fun. There are multi-coloured gravels, highly decorative backgrounds, hundreds of ornaments as well as plastic plants so real in reproduction it's almost impossible to distinguish them from live plants.

Most good retailers will have a complete assortment, and your selection should be based on the size of your aquarium and the amount of money you decide to spend. Once you have set up your aquarium, you should add a chlorine neutralizer to the water and initially add only a few fish. These few fish will help develop the proper biological conditions nec-essary to maintain a fully stocked aquarium. After three or four weeks, assuming everything is functioning properly, you can then go ahead and add the rest of the fish.

Aquarium maintenance is much simpler than people think. Every two weeks, a partial water change (not greater than 20 per-cent), by siphoning the water from the bottom of the aquarium, is all that's required.

Easier than you think

Following this simple routine, your goldfish will live a long and prosperous life. In fact, one of the biggest problems people have is orgest problems people have is spending too much time main-taining their aquarium. On a daily basis, goldfish should be fed a small quantity of quality flake food or pellet.

Goldfish are truly beautiful and have been increasing dramatically in popularity. There are many dif-ferent body shapes and colours to choose from in a variety of price ranges. They will survive at much lower temperatures and could be left in an unheated area for most of the year:

Once is not enough when treating deck

The results of a recent con-sumer survey indicate decks are an investment few people properly protect.

Of the survey respondents who owned a deck, equal numbers (about 25 percent each) either knew they should treat their decks, but never got around to it; had never treated their decks; or had treated their decks with a wood preservative.

A report from Remodelling magazine reports the average cost of a new deck is $3,000. Leave it unprotected, and your deck will look old and weathered in just a year. And maintaining that deck can costs as little as $50 or $60 a

Consumers in the survey real-ized there are two types of prod-ucts available for treating decks: preservatives that protect it from ultra-violet light, insects and decay, and water repellents that pro-tect the wood from mold and mildew.

While most survey respondents, nearly 69 percent, said they knew they should use a product containing both a wood preservative and a water repellent on their teach they discovered about how decks, they disagreed about how often to reapply these products. More than half said you should retreat a deck every two to three years; more than one-third sug-gested annually; but barely more than five percent said each spring and fall.

Because water repellents wear off quickly the lonely five percent group generally is right. Several factors including foot traffic, weather conditions, exposure to water from frequent plant water-ing or a hot tub, and what product you originally used to protect your deck all affect how long your treatment will last.

If you first treat your deck with a combined wood preservative and water repellent, you can re-treat it once or twice a year with a water repellent only. If you start to see some signs of mold and mildew, some signs of mold and minetwo-probably after four or five years, you'll need to reapply the wood preservative with water repellent. Re-treating your deck is easy unless you stained it with a stand-end house stain. The stain won't ard house stain. The stain won't protect the deck from insects, de-cay or even mold and mildew, and prevents a wood preservative or water repellent from penetrating the surface. So you will have to remove the stain by sanding, then give the deck a good cleaning and

HOME IMPROVEMENT

Screening creates a summer living room easily

When school's out for the sum-mer, the home can grow too small for all the family hubbub, and airconditioning bills soar. The answer to these problems often lies, overlooked, just outside the front door - a little-used porch that can become a breezy, private oasis with the simple addition of screen-

After decades of neglect, screened porches are enjoying a massiverevival. Not only are families replacing old torn screens, but they are moving to enclose formerly open porches as well.

Spurring the comeback are the savings generated by using Mother Nature's air cooling instead of the utility company's, and the need to find more living space when larger homes are un-affordable in today's market. Another incentive is the do-ityourself convenience of modern materials such as inexpensive, easy-to-handle screening that stands up to year-round weather-

Multi-purpose space

One pleasure rediscovered on the screened porch is outdoor din-ing, rescued from the insect-besieged patio. Busy mothers are finding that porch screening can create a safe, protected area for children's active play, rain or

Most of all, families are realizing that screening provides the subtle psychological privacy that makes for a relaxing retreat. Screen walls define a space within which one can use plants, rugs, wicker and other pieces to make a room that is enclosed and apart from street and neighbours, yet still open to the beauty of the

Carefree coverage

Regardless of the reasons, thousands of homeowners are screening on weekends and en-oying indoor/outdoor rooms all through the summer months.

Do-it-yourselfers have several screening options to choose from today. The first is woven fibreglass screening, which offers sev-eral advantages. Fibreglass will not curl or stretch while you work with it, nor will the tough, vinyl-coated mesh dent, corrode or rust. The most popular colours are silver grey and charcoal.

Aluminum screening is resilient and rustproof and comes in three colours - bright (natural) aluminum, charcoal and new black. In the past, bright aluminum has been the preferred screening, but charcoal and black finishes are becoming increasingly popular. Charcoal offers good outward visibility, while black provides the best possible view to the out-side. It actually seems to disap-pear into the background when you look through it.

Fibreglass and aluminum ribregiass and autilities screening products are available in many widths to accommodate various porch panel sizes, and each is durable and easy to work with and fabricate.

Screening methods

All-weather durability is a very important factor for the do-ityourselfer when choosing screening because, most often, screening is installed for permanent, longtime use. On a roofed open porch with corner pillars, screening can simply be wrapped around the porch up to the screen door opening. In such cases, it is only necessary to insert 2x4 wood strips along the floor and ceiling, then 2x4 vertical supports at intervals, and, finally, a horizontal rub rail at chairback height. Screening is then unrolled horizontally and stapled into place, and wooden strips are glued to cover staple rows around edges and at the chair-rail

Screening can be applied ver-tically on the same kind of framework, and is a little easier to hanwork, and is a little easier to nan-dle. Even when a porch has a waist-high brick or wood railing, often it is easier to screen with such a framework outside the ex-isting railing.

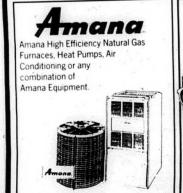

when porch floors are masonry, a carbide-tipped masonry drill bit and non-rusting screws in lead sleeves are needed to affix the wood base strip; otherwise, the procedure is the same.

In all screening jobs, perma-nent or temporary, vertical studs should be placed to allow installa-tion of standard-size screen doors.

Removable screening

Building removable screens takes more time and carpentry, but is well within the skill level of amateur wood-workers. With careful measurements in hand, a home handyman can get guid-ance and materials to construct frames and screen them. And, of course, replacing worn-out screens requires only taking ex-isting frames to a retailer.

For the very first time ever, the Kawartha Shrine Circus is promoting a special price break to encourage parents to bring, not send, their children to the circus.

More do-it-yourselfers are installing drywall

Drywall, or gypsum board, is one of the most widely used and most practical materials in the building industry. It also is a material that more and more do-ityourselfers are learning how to install. There are four basic steps involved in a typical drywall installation.

The first step is to mark and cut the panels. Sheetrock panels come in the standard 4'x8' size. To cut face level, without puncturing the face paper.

If nails are used, space them 7" apart on ceilings, 8" on walls. Set the nail head so that a shallow dimple is formed by the last blow of the hammer.

Once the panels are fastened, apply corner beads and metal trim. The beads are nailed (not screwed) every 9" on both bead flanges Similarly, metal trim should be press it into position. The tape is then embedded, following the same procedures as for joints.

Fastener depressions are treated by holding the finishing knife almost flush with the panel and then drawing joint compound across the nail or screw head and surrounding "dimple". Then, with the blade raised to a more upright position, scrape off excess compound with a second stroke executed at a right angle to the first.

After allowing the treated ar-them to fit room dimensions, measure the panel size desired and mark it by drawing a line on the light-coloured face paper side of the panel. Then, using a utility knife, score through the paper, lightly cutting into the core. Then simply snap the two pieces apart.

Finally, cut the paper on the back side of the board and smooth the edge of he panel. Cut-outs for windows, electrical outlets and such are either scored and punched out or cut with a sabre

Next, attach the Sheetrock panels to room framing, Although wall board nails can be used, screws provide superior holding power and are less likely to pop out of place after the job is com-

Hold the panel tightly against the framing and attach the centre areas first. Screws should be spaced a maximum of 12" apart on ceilings, 16" on walls. They should be driven just below surapplied wherever the gypsum panels butt windows or concrete block. Trim should also be nailed every 9".

Step 4

The fourth and final process is finishing the panels. This involves treating joints, corners and fastener depressions. The edges of the Sheetrock panels are tapered on the face side to form a shallow recess to receive joint compound and tape. The ends of the panels are not tapered.

When two panel ends meet on a wall or ceiling, they form a butt joint. This type of joint requires special care when finishing or it will take on an unappealing 'crowned' appearance.
For best results, hold the knife at a 45 degree angle to the panel and apply medium pressure when applying the compound. Use your fingers to lightly press joint tape into the wet compound over the Then, embed the tape in the compound by drawing the knife firmly over the joint. After all the butt joints are treated, move onto the tapered joints, following the same basic procedures.

Next, using the same 5" finishing knife, apply joint compound over all inside corners. Extend the compound slightly beyond the area to be covered by tape. When applying tape to inside corners, simply fold it along the crease and eas to dry overnight, sand lightly and apply a coat of compound over joints, fasteners, corners and trim. After this coat has dried overnight, sand lightly again and apply a final coat of com-pound over all areas except inside corners.

When the last coat has dried once again sand down any imper-fections left in the treated surfaces. Use 150-grit or finer sand-paper or 220-grit or finer abrasive mesh cloth. Avoid roughening the drywall paper.

Choking landfills spur new mower technologies

To help the overuse of our landfill sites with grass clippings and other yard refuse, mower manufactures have jumped into the fray with new types of mulchwers that leave clippings on the lawn.

The payback to the consumer is convenience and a healthier lawn. Mowing time is reduced by almost 40 percent and watering and fertilizing costs are reduced.

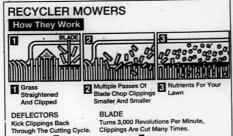

Still, many homeowners groan at the word "mulching" because it conjures up images of clumps of clippings across the carpet of freshly-mowed turf. Others worry that clippings cause thatch buildup, a layer of dead grass that is healthy for a lawn.
These fears are unfounded.

Researchers say the new high-tech mowers chop clippings so finely and drive them so deeply into the grass that you can't see them. Further, new studies by university extension services show that clippings do not cause thatch.

In fact, clippings act as a natural fertilizer by reducing the need for nitrogen by up to 25 percent. When shopping for a new

Cracks in your home may burn a hole in your pocket

The costs of keeping up a home seem to rise every year and homeowners find themselves putting off vacations in order to meet expenses. But there is a moneysaving measure all homeowners can take that makes those sacrifices unnecessary: insulation. How can you tell if you home is leaking energy dollars? With summer just around the corner, now is the perfect time to assess your home's insulation, and make sure that the money you're spend-ing on cooling (and, in winter, on heating)literally isn't going out the window.

Put something shocking in your pool

Go ahead. Put something shocking in your pool. In fact, experts now recommend a weekly shock treatment as an important preventive pool care step that can eliminate pool water contamination by bacteria and algae caused by everyday wastes, such as suntan oil, perspiration, dirt and grass.

Pool owners should understand that clear water is not necessarily clean pool water. However, an effective shock treatment can both cleanse your pool to rid it of invis-ible bacteria and algae, and oxidize it, to give the water a sparkling clear appearance. Many experts suggest that you shock treat your pool weekly to prevent pool water problems, as well as to offset the effect of rain, high temperature and heavy pool usage.

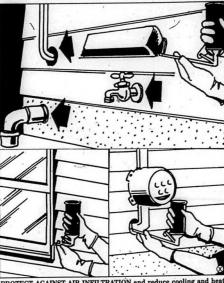

Air infiltration, the process through which costly energy leaks occur, can happen in numerous places in the average home: be-tween eaves, under thresholds, between baseboards, under exhaust ducts, around chimneys, under and on top of loose siding and between corner joints and flashings, to name just a few.

So, it is especially important to check carefully for those places are among the simplest and the least costly to insulate effectively - yet, too often, they simply are neglected.

For, while other types of insu lation themselves may be expensive, and may require a profes-sional's expertise to install, the small cracks and spaces which can cause large energy losses can be sealed easily even by the most inexperienced do-it-yourselfer.

PROTECT AGAINST AIR INFILTRATION and reduce cooling and heating costs by sealing areas where leakage may be occurring.

where wasteful energy leakage may be occurring and make sure they are sealed effectively.

Even if the walls and attic of your house are adequately insulated, you still may be losing energy through random cracks and through spaces around doors and windows. In fact, these often-overlooked areas can account for at least 38 percent of the energy loss from the typically insulated home.

In a well-insulated house, the largest source of energy loss can be the air leaks around windows and doors and through other

Amazing as that may seem, even more amazing is the fact that, of all areas in the home, these

These Grade 4,5 and 6 students from Madoc Township School were on hand for the planting of a tree in the school's front yard as part of their Earth Day participation last Wednesday.

Township school gets into spirit of Earth Day

by Jeff Wilson

With the environment. becoming more and more a topic of conversation, the Madoc Township Public School took the opportunity to get in the spirit of Earth Day with a few school projects.

The three school projects entitled "Signs of Hope" included, planting a tree in the front yard of the school, constructing a paper tree with a leaf provided by each student and learning an environmental song provided by another school.

Breakfast with the firemen

The Madoc Township Fire Department held its annual breakfast at the fire hall in Eldorado last Sunday morning.

Teacher Jan Bruce said though Wednesday was the 23rd anniversary of Earth Day it was the first year Madoc Township Public School really observed and participated in observed and participated in the day.

The school's participation was sparked by a tape contain-ing an environmental song, which was sent to them by students and staff from the District of Muskoka in Ontario.

The tape was sent to 14,000 schools across Canada. In a letter to the school the District of Muskoka staff and students suggested schools record its own version of the song, use the song as a focus for environme song as a rocus for environ-mental projects, class drama-tization of the song, prepare a school newspaper or send the song to the local radio station.

Bruce followed through with the last suggestion, sending the tape to the local radio station CJBQ and requesting disc jockey Matt Mitchell to play the song a couple of times between 7-9 a.m. He obliged the school and played it at 7:20 a.m. on Earth Day.

Madoc Township School also is sending a postcard to their contact student from the District of Muskoka as part of the "Signs of Hope" project.

A reasonably quiet week has passed at CHSS, with more planning than action for the moment. Of course, a few tidbits were dug up to fill this week's column.

We saw the last of the Grade 8 students come and go from orientation. CHIC had some events for everyone, and plans were being made for Spring Concert

The final troop of Grade 8 students from Madoc Public School made their way over to CHSS last Wednesday for their three day orientation. Like the other senior public students who came, they received tours of the school, previews of facilities and some inside information from teachers and students alike. ## Glimpse...into the past

St. Peter's Presbyterian Church was first built in 1850, but burned down in May 2, 1873, and was immediately rebuilt

by Betty Wood

The building of the first St. Peter's Presbyterian Church was constructed in 1850 on half an acre of land, formerly part of the village, freely given by Mrs. Catherine McBeath, for church building purposes

It was a frame structure 42 feet by 32 feet and somewhat common in style. It has had additions added three times, until it reached 81 feet in height.

The cost for the project was between $5,000 and $6,000.

The congregation was estab-lished from a few families of early settlers in Madoc Town-ship, who had remained true to their Presbyterian faith.

their Presbyterian faith.

The fearful cry of fire aroused the villagers from their beds on the warm night of May 2. 1873 and the wood framed Presbyterian Church burned to the ground.

Plans commenced immediately to rebuild a new church.

4-H clubs getting ready for active, fun summer

By Eric Lawlor, Rural Organizations Specialist

A number of 4-H clubs are just starting up for an active and fun summer. Topics range from dairy and beef to field crops, safety, horses or sheep. The dairy and beef calf clubs will focus on nutrition, the all-important component of healthy oroductive animal.

The dairy and beef calf clubs will focus on nutrition. the all-important component of a healthy, productive animal.

The new Shelter Valley Horse Club will also look at nutrition. Members of the sheep club will dig into the housing and management of these animals. Judging and preparing animals to show is a component of all livestock clubs.

The topic for the Field Crops

Club is soil conservation and the Safety Club will concentrate on the safe operation of tillage equipment. The Veterinary Club is for those interested in the nervous and reproductive systems.

Of special interest this year is the new "Evaluation Club." This club involves judging a variety of livestock species as well as a host of other items.

Members learn to observe, make decisions and defend their decisions and practice public speaking-all in a fun environment.

4-H clubs are organized as local groups but some are county wide. Under the direction of adult volunteer leaders.

the members learn about the various topics through fun hands-on activities. Through their 4-H meetings, young people learn leadership skills, motivation, sogetherness, responsibility and public speaking. The clubs meet six times over the summer and then showcase their accomplishments at an Achievement Program.

For the livestock clubs, this generally means showing their project animal at a local fair. Young people not from farms are welcome. The 4-H leaders are very helpful about finding project animals for these norfarm members to work with. Clubs start in April or May. Members must be at least 10 years of age and not more than 21 years of age before January 1, 1992.

Other clubs, such as conservation, might also be starting up. If you are interested, contact your local 4-H leader or the OMAF office in Brighton at (613) 475-1630.

Granny flat homes a wave of the future?

by Jeff Wilson

With the majority of the population moving towards its senior years the granny flat housing concept is an idea which time has come.

The granny flat can simply be described as temporary modular homes for senior citizens. The houses are 500 to 825 sq. ft. which are placed in the backyard of an existing home and hook into the home's water, sewer and hydro. After the senior passes away the home can sold back to the dealer or possibly used as a cottage. The idea of a granny flat or garden suite as it is also known by, was originally conceived in Australia.

The concept was picked up in Ontario by Jim Hatch who began selling the houses in Barrie and now runs his Granny Flats Inc. company out of an office in the Foxboro area north of Belleville. Hatch has a patent on the name Granny Flat. as well as on the two home designs he offers.

Currently, Hatch said he has only five units built, including ones in Barrie, Cambridge, Ottawa, Mountain and Haliburton.

The granny flat units are quite inexpensive with a one bedroom unit going for about $45,000 and the largest two bedroom unit going for close to $70,000. Hatch said the price allows seniors who wish to sell their family home and move into the backyard of children to purchase the granny flat and live off the remaining money. Hatch feels the granny flat can allow seniors to be self sufficient which will save taxpayers a large amount of tax dollars. He said if the concept catches on the granny flat could alleviate the need to construct tax supported institutions for seniors, many of which would be abandoned after the baby boomer generation moves on, he said.

Hatch currently has a granny flat going up in Haliburton. The gentleman who purchased the flat had to receive approval for the unit from his municipal council with the passing of a temporary zoning change which he was granted in just a half hour's time

But this case is not typical, according to Hatch. Currently municipal approval of granny flats is the major stumbling block. Hatch says many councils are taking the NIMBY (Not In My Backyard) approach when it comes to dealing with applications to allow the units. Hatch said, he is currently pushing the provincial government to pass legislation that would clear the way for granny flat construction throughout the province. He said the Canadian Mortgage and Housing Commission (CMHC) has written a report endorsing the granny flat, but neither the previous or present provincial governments have acted on it.

During an interview, he received an inquiry from a woman in Deep River who was interested in purchasing a granny flat for her mother who wants to sell her home in British Columbia and move to Ontario. Hatch said he has received 1.100 similar inquiries, but During an interview, he many fall by the wayside received an inquiry from a woman in Deep River who was interested in purchastance of the idea.

Some municipalities are warming up to the idea, with Durham passing the approval of granny flat units in its Official Plan. Hatch said muncipalities like Durham are just waiting for applications to be presented to council. But Hatch said there are too many inconsistencies when it comes to approvals and provincial legislation is the only way to alleviate this stumbling block.

More than 5,000 Ontario women a year develop breast cancer and it claims the lives of approximately 1,700 annually. Breast screening is the best way to find breast cancer in its earliest stages. The earlier breast cancer is detected, the greater the chance of. saving a life.

The goal of the program, when fully implemented, is to reduce breast cancer mortality by approximately 40 per cent in women age 50 and over. This will save more than 300 lives each year in Ontario.

contact with a lot of elderly people, which is always very rewarding. "We are all aware now, that we live in an increasingly aging society. The statisticians tell us that the number of people aged 55 and over goes up by more than 14 million each year, four-fifths of them in developing countries. In Britain alone, there are twice as many people over 75 alive today as there were when I was born.

"In one sense this massive change in the massive change in the demography presents a major challenge. As we grow old we invariably grow weaker and less able to fend for ourselves. With physical frailty comes fear and uncertainty. Loneliness adds to the burden. And the pressures of modern life make it all too easy for the rest of us to forget those who need us most.

Through its programs of health promotion, skills training, self-help and home care, your charity--our charity--brings comfort, self-esteem and support to those who need to adjust to new realities to a different pace of life.

"In the wake of Hurricane Hugo in the Caribbean, for example, Help the Aged (Canada) has provided funds to build a community centre for the destitute elderly. In India it has sponsored more than 2,500 cataract and trachoma operations.

"Here in Canada it is working imaginatively with the Canadian Council for the Blind; raising money for a mini-bus service in Halifax; and working with the Shepherds of Good Hope and the Union Mission to bring food and clothing to those in need here in Ottawa.

Help the Aged's "Adopt-A-Gran' program is another successful initiative. some 1,200 destitute elderly people in 12 countries have been adopted by more than a thousand Canadian families who help to provide medicines, food and accommodations and whose letters provide essential human contact and warmth.

All this and more is achieved with a tiny staff of five, a small army of volunteers and the generous donations of its supporters. "I really do think that is a remarkable achievement.

and I congratulate all those who have helped to bring it about," said Princess Diana. "But the needs of our elderly continue to grow. At the same time the role of Help the Aged becomes increasingly important. It therefore gives me great pleasure to announce the launch of a new campaign to raise funds and to declare 1992 as Help the Aged Year in Canada.

Canada.
According to Pierre
Barbeau, the charity's
Executive Director, the goal of the 1992 fund-raising campaign is to raise $1 million. "Of that." he said, "less than six per cent will be spent on administration

Report charges rural elderly suffer from pattern of neglect

In a major report recen-tly released, the Ontario Advisory Council on Senior Citizens charges that the rural elderly continue to suffer from "an historical pattern of public and private sector neglect."
The 84-page report, Rural

Roots-Aging in Small and Rural communities in Ontario," attributes some Ontario," attributes some of the neglect to the relative isolation of the rural elderly as well as their traditional reluctance to ask for help.

Council urges the government to improve services for rural seniors in the areas of health, housing, transportation, communi-cations and community services. The report also recommends that a major study of the needs of Ontar-io's First Nation elders be undertaken.

The report's 29 recom-mendations reflect council's firsthand experience with more than 450 service providers, seniors' groups, municipal officials and individuals seniors in four rural

"We talked to seniors living in the agricultural community of Markdale in Grey County," said Coun-cil's vice-chair Bill Hughes, who participated in all of the consultations. "In Northwestern Ontario we met with a seniors' club in the small village of Eagle River. We went to Haliburton's cottage country where an influx of urban seniors has combined with long-time residents to give that area the highest percentage of seniors in the province. And finally we heard from seniors who had farmed all their lives in Eastern Ontario."

Hughes also pointed out that the Advisory Council has already begun its study of First Nation elders including plans to meet with elders in fly-in communities

Over the winter months we have been re-conditioning appliances. We have in stock 80 used refrigerators with new compressors installed. The compressor motor is the most important & expensive part on a refrigerator. We buy compressor motors 100 at a time directly from the manufacturer. This way we can rebuild refrigerators cheaper than our competition. We have just purchased 500 used fridges & stoves from a company in Toronto that we have been buying from the last 10 yrs. A lot of these refrigerators are apartment size & 2 door frost-free fridges with matching stoves. We also have 60 matching almond fridge & stove sets, ranging from 2 months old & up. We also have 100 freezers of all sizes & a big selection of washers & dryers, lawn mowers and air conditioners.

Smitty likes competition - it keeps one on their toes & prices in line. Smitty says check our competitors out & then come to Smitty's & browse thru our warehouses & see what we have to offer. You are not obligated to buy, just come & see for yourself our very clean & modern appliances. We take trade-ins. We have our own financing with no interest & same day delivery. If you are thinking of buying or selling your appliances, see Smitty just for an honest price.
